

Thirty Second Annual General Meeting of the Meetings Industry Association

As we emerge from the many challenges brought about by Covid and return to face-to-face meetings the Thirty Second Annual General Meeting of the MIA will take place at a time that sees the industry adapting to a new, agile, way of meeting.

The proposed AGM will take place on Wednesday 30 March. Times and Venue to be confirmed in due course.

The AGM is every member's opportunity to hear first-hand from the association's Chairman, Steve Jones, the Treasurer, Ivor Turner and the Chief Executive, Kerrin MacPhie, about the past year, the financial standing and the association's strategy for future growth, industry support and engagement.

There are further opportunities for you, our members, when attending the AGM. The opportunity to put your name forward for the MIA Board of Directors, the committed group of individuals who drive the Association forward, decide the strategy and support the MIA to make a real difference for the industry. This year's event gives you the opportunity to catch up with colleagues in sector group meetings, prior to the AGM, network after the event and learn more of the MIA's key projects.

Thank you for your continued support, the team look forward to working with, and supporting you, through these changing times. I will forward full details regarding registering your place at the AGM shortly along with MIA Board nomination details.

I look forward to seeing you at this year's Annual General Meeting in March.

Yours sincerely

Kevin Breeze
